Checked baggage guidelines

Your baggage allowance depends on the flight and booking class. You can find the number of pieces and weight allowed for your journey when you select your flights, as well as on your ticket prior to travel.

For routes where the baggage allowance is displayed by weight (flying from/to destinations other than Africa & the Americas), there is no limit on the number of pieces that can be checked in as long as the weight allowance for the total number of pieces is not exceeded. However, limitations may apply based on aircraft carrying capacity.

Maximum dimensions (length + width + height)

When flying to/from Africa or the Americas, the maximum dimension per bag should not exceed 158cm.

When flying from Dammam, the maximum dimension per bag must not exceed 158cm.

When flying from Dublin, items carried as checked baggage must not exceed 240cm as the maximum length per bag.

When flying to/from other destinations: the maximum dimension per bag should not exceed 300cm.

Maximum weight

A single piece of checked baggage should weigh no more than 32kg (70lb).

Note: Pieces of baggage that are round, irregular-shaped, tied with loose rope or string, wrapped in blankets or that have loose straps will not be accepted.

Baggage allowance on code-share and interline journeys

Does your journey include travel on an airline other than Qatar Airways (including Qatar Airways code-share flights such as those of Cathay Pacific)? If so, that airline may offer you a lower baggage allowance. Baggage allowances on code-share routes are determined by IATA's Most Significant Marketing Carrier (MSC) rule.

Where a code-share or interline flight is part of an itinerary that begins or ends in the U.S.A. or Canada, baggage allowances and charges applicable at the itinerary's origin will apply throughout.

If you are booking a journey that includes a code-share flight with another carrier, please contact us to confirm your baggage allowance.

Hand baggage allowance

In addition to the regular checked-in baggage allowance, you may also bring along hand baggage on board the cabin during your Qatar Airways flight:

First Class and Business Class passengers can carry two pieces of baggage on board, not to exceed a total weight of 15kg (33lb).

Economy Class passengers can carry one piece of baggage, not to exceed 7kg (15lb).

For tickets issued in Brazil, Economy Class customers on flights to or from Brazil can carry one piece of baggage, not to exceed 10 kg (22lb).

Maximum dimensions for each piece of hand baggage are 50x37x25cm (20x15x10in).

Laptops and laptop bags should fit within your hand baggage allowance.

You can also carry personal items such as one lady's handbag or one small briefcase; one coat, cape or blanket; one umbrella; one pair of crutches or a walking stick; one small camera or binoculars; limited reading material; an infant's carrying basket; duty-free items purchased on the day of your flight.

Liquids and gels in hand baggage

You may carry liquids, gels, pastes and aerosols in containers up to 100ml (3.4oz) in your hand baggage.

Containers larger than 100ml cannot be accepted even if only partly filled. Your containers should be carried in a transparent, resealable, quart- or litre-sized bag no larger than 20x20cm (8x8in). Please ensure all items fit comfortably in the plastic bag.

Airport security will ask you to produce your transparent bag of liquids separately for screening. There are no restrictions on baby foods and medication. However, you may be required to present a prescription for medication you want to take on board.

Security check for personal electronic devices (UK and USA)

Passengers on UK and USA-bound Qatar Airways flights departing or transiting from Hamad International Airport with personal electronic devices must adhere to the following instructions.

UK-bound flights

You may be asked by security staff to turn on personal electronic devices that are larger than a mobile phone, including tablets, e-books and laptops during the security screening conducted at the boarding gate.

Ensure your electronic device(s) has sufficient power to be switched on to demonstrate its functionality.

Make sure you do not deplete power in your devices as charging points at the airport might be limited and you may require an adapter.

Devices without any power will be placed in a secure location on the aircraft that cannot be accessed, and returned at the final destination.

If more than six personal electronic individual devices are already secured, then you will have to check-in your device into your hand baggage, which will be stored in the aircraft hold.

If you are unable to check-in your hand baggage with the device or do not have a hand baggage, then your item will need to be deposited with

Lost and Found

. You will then be required to make a claim on the airline website and collect the item from the airport on your return.

USA-bound flights

All personal electronic devices carried on board all USA-bound flights from Doha, are subject to enhanced security screening.

Ensure your electronic device(s) has sufficient power to be switched on to demonstrate its functionality. Make sure you do not deplete power in your devices as charging points at the airport might be limited and you may require an adapter.

Consider packing all personal electronic devices that you do not intend to use in-flight into your check-in baggage.

Examples of personal electronic devices that are subject to enhanced security screening include: DSLR camera | Radio | E-reader | Walkie-talkie | Laptop | Tablet | Water purifier | Large game console | Monitor | CD-ROM | Drone | Electric guitar | Printer and scanner

Additional security measures for international flights to or from the USA

The Transportation Security Administration (TSA) screens all airline passengers and baggage. For further information, please visit the

U.S. Department of Homeland Security website

Baggage allowance on other airlines

If your journey involves a Qatar Airways code-share flight or a flight operated by another airline, the International Air Transport Association's (IATA) Most Significant Marketing Carrier (MSC) rule will determine your baggage allowance:

For travel between IATA areas: The first carrier flying in between two of the IATA areas

For travel between IATA sub areas: The first carrier flying in between the sub areas

For travel within an IATA sub area: The first carrier crossing an international border

There may be other exceptions. Please check with your nearest Qatar Airways office before booking. Please refer to the table below for more information on IATA areas and sub areas.

Excess baggage

To enjoy savings on additional baggage, purchase it online more than 6 hours before departure, at Qatar Airways offices or through our Contact Centre. Fees differ for each baggage concept, which is dependent on the route.

The piece concept applies to journeys between Qatar and destinations in Africa or the Americas. When flying between Qatar and all other destinations, the weight concept applies.*

The fees and conditions below apply to flights operated by Qatar Airways only. If your itinerary includes flights operated by other airlines, different baggage rules may apply. Please contact the airline you will fly with for more information.

Additional baggage purchase rules

Rates in Qatari Riyals (QAR) apply only for additional baggage purchases made in Qatar, for travel originating from Doha.

Additional baggage is only offered over and above the free baggage allowance already indicated on your booking confirmation and tickets;

Additional baggage is charged per kg, except to/from the Africa/Americas, where it is charged per piece;

Purchase units are offered in increments of single pieces or bundles of 5Kg (11.02 lb) each
Each passenger is allowed a maximum of five pieces or 100 kg at a time
A single piece of checked-in baggage must not weigh more than 32kg (70lb) or exceed 158cm (62in) in length + width + height. Any bags weighing more than 32kg (70lb) must be broken down so each piece weighs less than 32kg (70lb);
Additional baggage purchases apply to Qatar Airways flights and for tickets issued by Qatar Airways only. Additional baggage is calculated per passenger per journey, where a journey is defined as the entire outbound or inbound trip between origin and destination, not including the transfer point;
Purchases may be made from the time a booking is ticketed, up to six hours prior to departure. They are valid only for the flight and date shown on the additional baggage purchase receipt. To determine whether or not a booking is ticketed, check the confirmation email for a ticket number next to each passenger's name;
Additional baggage charges are quoted and billed in the currency of the departure country;
Additional baggage purchased online at qatarairways.com is non-refundable and will be forfeited in case of any changes to the originally booked itinerary. Date changes to the booking are permitted within the same route only. Additional baggage is not valid for travel on other carriers;
Additional baggage is subject to space limitations at check-in. If additional baggage cannot be accepted because of space limitations or airline initiated flight or schedule changes, it may be refunded or transferred to another flight with the same origin and destination, in accordance with the airline's policies;
Online additional baggage purchase is not allowed for infants;
Additional baggage purchased on qatarairways.com is only valid for Qatar Airways direct flights . If you need to book additional baggage for an itinerary that includes interline or code-share flights, please contact those carriers for their additional baggage policies;
In case online purchase of additional baggage is not completed for any reason, Qatar Airways reserves the right to not offer the online discounted price.
